The Fine Print. This checklist is specifically prepared for full service commercial radio and television stations licensed to Wyoming for which a renewal application was timely filed and granted during the last renewal cycle. If your 2005 (radio) or 2006 (television) license renewal application has not yet been granted, do not use this checklist. Network-owned television stations and non-commercial stations have additional responsibilities for materials in the public file.

The local public file must be maintained at the station's main studio and accessible during regular business hours. A station may not require a member of the public to make an appointment in advance or return at another time to inspect the public file, or examine the public file only at times most convenient to the licensee or its staff. The public file must be provided on request to members of the public visiting the station and without requiring that they identify themselves, their organization, or the particular documents they wish to inspect. Requests for copying must be honored for a reasonable duplication fee. With the exception of materials in the political file, a licensee who maintains its main studio outside of the station's community of license must also respond to telephone requests for information from the station's public file, and mail copies of requested information, upon prior payment of a reasonable duplication fee, to callers within the station's service area contour.

A copy of the document, The Public and Broadcasting -- A Procedure Manual, must be sent upon telephone request without the payment of a duplication fee. The licensee is responsible for payment of postage for sending copies of public file documents.
